A PIECE OF SWITZERLAND IN BRISBANE

Swiss nationals will be able to find a slice of their homeland in subtropical Brisbane this year.

The Pavilion of Switzerland at World Expo 88 has been designed to illustrate the outstanding talents of one of the world's smallest but best known countries.

Overall, the Swiss Pavilion has been designed to show a variety of vignettes of Swiss life by creating a winter paradise with an attractive snow-covered landscape in Brisbane.

One of the highlights of the pavilion will be the 40 metre long ski-run, which features a ski-lift and Swiss instructors. The ski slope is made of Permasnow, a Brisbane invention which, according to experts, provides an even better skiing surface than real snow.

The design of the slope means both experts and beginners can sample thrilling skiing pleasure, enough to rouse the enthusiasm of people of all ages.

That feeling will be intensified for diners in The Terrace, the restaurant in the pavilion. Serving Switzerland's world-famous high-class cuisine and enjoying an outlook of skiers, snow and the Alps, The Terrace is certain to be one of the most popular restaurants on the Expo site.

But you can get more than just the feeling of the Alps in your visit to the Pavilion of Switzerland. The world's first indoor gondola ride will take visitors on a flight around the world and over the Alps to a Swiss village before continuing to display the economic, cultural and tourist aspects of the country.

Visitors on the gondola will be taken into the pavilion around a large world globe and pass through a number of different sections which will intermesh to form a graphic vision of the diverse make-up of Switzerland.

Pavilion visitors who want to find out even more about Switzerland can use the info-centre, an ultramodern centre which includes a database and video library. The database can supply the answers to any questions people may have about the country, whether they be political, historic, economic or any other topic, while the video library will show the many different facets of a country that most Australians still only think about for chocolates, watches and the Alps.

Although the pavilion will be a real boon for educating people from other countries about Switzerland and provide a trip back to their homeland for the many Swiss Nationals who are expected to visit, the highlight of Expo 88 for the Swiss will undoubtedly be on August 1, when Switzerland celebrates its 697th birthday.

In fact, there will be two celebrations held at Expo, on Sunday, July 31 and Monday, August 1. A tremendous party will be held around the Pavilion of Switzerland, with Swiss music, Alphorns, yodelling, folk-dancing and fireworks amongst the many activities which are being planned.

World Expo 88 will run from April 30 to October 30 with the theme of "Leisure in the Age of Technology". This theme is firmly embraced by the Pavilion of Switzerland.

In fact, advance ticket sales have surpassed all expectations and Expo organisers are confident of huge crowds throughout the six months. While Expo is creating huge public interest, so too is the Pavilion of Switzerland.

Prospective visitors are getting the message that there is one thing they must do at Expo — don't miss the Swiss!

EXPO 88 Swiss Days

As detailed information about the programme of the two Swiss Days at the World Expo in Brisbane (July 31/August 1) and the visit of a member of the Swiss Government were not yet available in time for the March issue, we shall give you more information about Switzerland's participation in the Expo in the June issue of the Swiss Review.

Farewell to the Swiss in the Consular District of Sydney

Before my tour of duty is coming to an end on March 31, 1988, my wife and I should like to send to you and your families the very best wishes for your continued success, prosperity and personal well-being.

Since my arrival in 1985 I had the opportunity to meet a great many of you, not only in Sydney but throughout Australia and Papua New Guinea. On all these occasions it was gratifying to see that you have adapted well, and that you are conveying the character and the aspirations of the Swiss to the people of the new country of your choice.

Let me take this last opportunity to send you heartfelt greetings and to express my appreciation and to thank you for having created and conserved, in Australia and in Papua New Guinea, such an auspicious image of Switzerland.

Our Christmas party was blessed by the sun and a very happy atmosphere with good cool food and drink. While waiting for the children's presents our choir entertained club members with seasonal songs and later the children joined in. They watched Father Christmas approach across a creek and were soon amazed how well informed and talkative he was.

The ladies' luncheon group would like to thank Gigi for the well organised Christmas party in her home.

Choir practice will be starting on February 15.

Sometime in February also will be a brunch beach picnic — please take notice of the club newsletter.

President's Report

The Swiss Club of Victoria extends its best wishes to all compatriots for a Healthy, Happy and Successful 1988.

As it is the 200th Birthday of Australia, let us participate in the celebration, knowing that the Swiss community helped to shape this country. After all, even Governor Latrobe's wife was Swiss. In the late 1840s, the Swiss developed the Yarra Valley Vineyards and also the wine growing around Geelong. As Australia grew, we Swiss participated in many ways, therefore let us continue to help a maturing ethnic Australia. We can do this by belonging to one of the Folklore Groups or just by supporting organised functions. It is by unity and strength that we can best achieve this aim.

I wish all our friends and members who are ill a speedy recovery. We are always looking forward to meet and greet you at the Club or outside functions.

Children's Christmas Party at the Club

What a success — a record number of children visited the 'Samichlaus' on December 6. One hundred and fifteen children received a gift from him and the 'Schmutzli' did not have to use the 'Ruete' once. As well as St. Nicholas the children saw a Christmas film, heard a Christmas story and learnt a Samichlaus song during the afternoon. Icecream and soft drinks were handed out, all free of charge.

But our big, big thank you must go to our two teachers, Beatrice Lucas and Esther Laeng. To entertain 115 children for two hours is a tremendous job, and the way they coped was just unbelievable.

Further thanks go to Peter Kaegi, Peter Kueng, Peter Struba, Werner Rust und Franz Schnellmann who co-organised the party with the teachers.

Thank you, Swiss School, for your efforts, not only for the Samichlaus party, but for all your teaching during the year.

New Gerant

As most of you know by now, Peter Kaegi had resigned as gerant at the end of 1987, after three years of managing the Club to the Committee's greatest satisfaction and to that of most of the members. We were sad to see Peter go, but understand that, after 3 years without a break and working 15 hours a day, he is entitled to a well earned rest.

The Club has benefited greatly by the decision to sublet the Club to a gerant and Peter had maintained for us the true Swiss atmosphere we had requested. On behalf of the Committee and the Members, we wish to thank Peter most sincerely for having managed the Club the way he did and we wish him well for his future undertakings and hope to see him often in the Club as an ordinary member.

It is with great pleasure that we welcome our new gerant, François Duriaux. François is well known to a number of our members; he lived and worked in Melbourne for some years. For the past 3 years, he has conducted his own restaurant in the country. François is keen to take over the management of the Club and P. Kaegi has generously offered to help get François established.

Now it is up to us members to support the new gerant.

Christmas Gathering for the "Over Seventies"

Once more, our senior compatriots gathered at the Swiss Club of Victoria on December 5, 1987 for the now traditional pre-Christmas afternoon tea. The new Consul General, Mr. Günter Britschgi, was happy to have this opportunity to meet the "over seventies" of Melbourne and surroundings. A special welcome was extended to Mrs. Anna Maritz, at 95 years the oldest compatriot in Victoria. The few guests who could not master the stairs were conveyed to the Club restaurant in a litter especially built for this occasion by Herbie Hunn. It has become a tradition that the "Trachtengruppe Schwyzerguess" served the coffee as well as cakes offered by their members and by the Ladies' Luncheon Group, and the children of the Saturday Morning School delighted all the participants by their songs and recitals. Thank you all, guests and helpers, for being there.

Sunday, April 10, 11.30 a.m.
Kalorama Picnic Reserve

(Melway page 52 J/9)

Make a special effort to be there, at this church service held in the alpine tradition under the open sky.

This tradition was once largely held for the mountain dwellers and shepherds. Today they are still to be enjoyed at the "Mi-été" festivals in the Vaudoise Alps (Taveyannaz, Jaman), as well as the "Bergsonntag", a mountain festival held on the alpine meadows of northern Graubünden.

In the Bernese Oberland the Gastern Service near Kandersteg is of special interest. At this service the parson from Kandersteg reads the text out of the big Gastern Bible of 1696.

Although it will not be possible to hear this year's Easter message from this old translation, it will nevertheless be brought to us in contemporary German. The words might have changed but the message remains the same; the good news of Christ's resurrection and His offer of forgiveness, new and eternal life to a world that has gone wrong.

There will also be activities for the children, food and drinks will be available; however it might be a good idea to bring your own camping chairs, rugs, etc.
