The International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC) is one of the three components—the other two being the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies and the 144* recognized National Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies—constituting the International Red Cross and Red Crescent Movement.
A humanitarian institution, the ICRC is the founding body of the Red Cross. It has been established by the Geneva Convention of 1864, which aims to provide protection and assistance to the victims of international and civil wars and of internal disturbances and tensions, in order to bring about peace in the world.
