In our days, in our eyes, the Swiss flag is something still more. It is the dazzling symbol of national unity, a unity realised in spite of the greatest obstacles, in spite of the diversity of races, of languages, of religion, upon the basis of democracy by the conscious will of populations animated by the same ideal.

From this flag of a little nation born of the spontaneous union of twenty-two Republics, there sprang into life the neutralised international flag which extends its protecting folds over the work of the Red Cross. The plenipotentiaries of thirty-five States who gathered on July 6th, 1906, for the revision of the Geneva Convention wished to state it in these terms: "In homage to Switzerland the heraldic sign of the Red Cross upon a white ground, formed by inversion of the Federal colours, is now maintained as a distinctive emblem of sanatory service in armies."

This nation, ancient by reason of its history, is modern in its aspirations.

Its flag is resplendent as the banner of the victors of Morgarten, first victory of liberty in the Middle Ages. One might say that this flag symbolises the whole national life of our people: their thirst for independence, their ideal of justice and Christian brotherhood; their "raison d'être" in Europe. When it passes at the head of our battalions everyone must take off his hat to it. It is six centuries of liberty passing by.

CHEESE SALAD

This is most popular with Swiss males, when served with white wine (dry) or beer.

1lb Guyere cheese. Cut this up into fine slivers. Make a savoury dressing out of the following ingredients: 1 table-spoon mustard (don't use the mustard powder as it is too strong, but either French's or tube mustard), 1 raw egg, finely cut up onions and garlic to taste, salt, 1½ lemons (juice of), a little paprika or cayenne pepper, caraway seed (Kuemel). Mix these ingredients and blend well. Pour over cheese and let draw for an hour or two before serving.

Are you one of the many Swiss, who often, with a sigh, recall superb cooking, accompanied by the right wine? Would you like to experience again the hospitality towards their guests for which the Swiss hoteliers are famous? Or perhaps you have been born here and would like to find out the difference between a N.Z. and a Swiss run hotel and restaurant? Go to Gisborne to the Chalet Rendezvous or to one of their four motel flats at the back of the Chalet for your next holiday treat. The Chalet takes in a few guests and the motels sleep six each in perfect comfort; every electrical convenience is there for you. You can have your meals in the Chalet, cooked by a Swiss chef. For your enjoyment there is the perfect beach across the road and inside the Chalet a bit of true Switzerland, created for you by the proprietors, Mr and Mrs C. Kankhauser.

Obituary

MR ROBERT BUCHMANN

It is with deep sorrow that we have to record the passing away of one of Auckland's oldest members of the Swiss community, Mr R. Buchmann. Unfortunately very little is known regarding Mr Buchmann's early life, but it is believed he originally hailed from Thalwill, Canton Zurich, and came to New Zealand about the end of 1913. Later he farmed in the Tahuna, Morrinsville district, but owing to ill health later in life Mr Buchmann had to always walk with the aid of a stick.

Nevertheless this did not deter him, and he was always very plucky and radiated an inner warmth and friendliness to all he knew and came in contact with. Rest in Peace. —D.P.
