Mr. J. Joerin, of 12, Store Street, W.C.1, has recently celebrated his eightieth birthday anniversary, and we take this opportunity to wish him many, many happy returns of the day. Mr. Joerin, who hails from St. Imier, came to this country sixty-one years ago, after an apprenticeship of hairdressing in Zurich and a short stay in Paris.

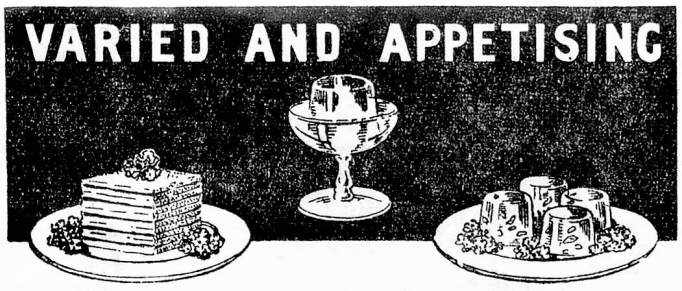
After seven years in a situation he established himself at 12, Store Street, W.C.1, where his youngest son is still carrying on the business.

Mr. Joerin found a devoted partner in his wife, who presented him with six children (three boys and three girls), and who aided him in his business for 52 years. All the three sons have been in H.M. Forces during the last two wars.

He was well-known in his profession and the French School of Hairdressing elected him Chairman and later on Président d'Honneur.

Mr. Joerin has recently returned from an extended holiday in Switzerland, and on asking him the secret of living to an old age he said: Hard work, moderation in all things and early to bed.

We sincerely hope that a kind Providence will grant that Mr. and Mrs. Joerin will remain with us for a long time yet.



With Maggis Aspic Jelly valuable additions may be made to war-time menus. From meat, fish and vegetable "left-overs" attractive supplementary dishes can be contrived.

INVALID ASPIC

Maggis Aspic Jelly in a small mould daintily served with two or three small strips of toast will be a welcome change from "beef tea."

MEAT ASPIC

Cooked fresh sausage meat or meat left over from the joints may be used minced. Drop the meat into the jelly before setting and serve with a little watercress or cress.

FISH ASPIC

Cod or Salmon remaining from the boiled fish can be used, also prawns or shrimps. Fill the mould ¾ full and when nearly set put in the flakes of fish and fill up.

ASPIC SANDWICHES

Spread the slices of bread with margarine and then with a thin layer of jelly. Add grated cheese, watercress, mustard and cress, meat or fish paste.

JELLIED BEEF SOUP

A rich jellied beef soup may be made instantly with the addition of boiling water. Greatly appreciated by Fire-Watchers.
