COMMERCIAL NEWS

Switzerland and the European Payment Union.

The Federal Parliament, convened on the 24/26th October, 1950, to an extraordinary session, authorised the Federal Council to ratify E.P.U., after M. Petitpierre, President of the Swiss Confederation and Head of the Political Department, had outlined the economic reasons for joining the E.P.U., dispelled the fears brought forward by the agricultural quarters and vindicated the compatibility of the Swiss neutrality with co-operating, under certain reserves, with O.E.E.C. and E.P.U.

The decision of the two houses was taken by an overwhelming majority.

Extension of British facilities to Switzerland.

Following the adhesion of Switzerland to E.P.U., H.M. Treasury published in the evening of 1st November, 1950, the following statement:—

"In consequence of the ratification of Switzerland's accession to the European Payments Union, the Open General Licences applying to imports into the United Kingdom from member countries of the O.E.E.C. in accordance with measures taken by His Majesty's Government for the liberalisation of trade, are now extended to Switzerland and Liechtenstein.

The restriction on the amount of currency available for tourist travel to Switzerland and Liechtenstein has now been removed. Applications to obtain the basic travel allowance of £50 (£35 for children under 15) should be made direct to a bank or travel agent in the same way as for travel to other O.E.E.C countries. It is no longer necessary to apply to the Authorisation Office for Travel to Switzerland."

The Swiss Foreign Trade in the first 9 months of 1950.

In the latest issue of the Swiss Observer, the increase of Swiss imports in the last few months was mentioned. Here follow the import and export figures covering, under three headings, the last pre-war and post-war years:—

Savings in Switzerland.

By the end of 1949 there were in Switzerland nearly 5 million savings accounts, a very high figure considering the population numbers $4\frac{1}{2}$ million inhabitants. Within a year, the total amount of savings increased by 446 million Francs, to reach the record of 7,915 million Francs. Of the savings accounts 90% had deposits below Frs.5,000 — average sum Frs.900 — whereas the other 10% averaged Frs.5,500.—.

What the Swiss spend on insurance.

The Swiss individual spent Frs.197 on insurance in 1938, and Frs.307.— 10 years later. Taking further into account the premium compulsorily under the old age insurance scheme, the figure for 1948 is Frs.428. Of the total of 2 milliard Swiss Francs the Swiss people devoted to insurances, 35% went to private owned companies.

50 years Swiss aluminium industry.

Thanks to electric energy the aluminium industry, which celebrates this year its jubilee, has developed considerably in Switzerland. A strong demand for the various products - raw aluminium, utensils, foils, etc. - prevails on the home market and exports for over 50 million Francs a year give proof of the excellent repute enjoyed abroad.
