Army

Switzerland is to bring about 30 high Army officers and civilian contractors before a military tribunal shortly. The decision follows an inquiry which is alleged to have revealed grave defects in several Alpine gun positions.

Col. Jakob Eugster, Chief of the Army Legal Department, said at a Press conference that one-third of the pill-boxes examined in a certain defence area were found to be defective.

Col. Eugster said some of those concerned in constructing the sites had made considerable profits. As a result of the defects Switzerland's whole fortification system was checked, he added.

Economics

The following Swiss Banks have declared their dividends for the year 1949: Schweizerischer Bankverein: 6 per cent. (1948: 6%); Swiss National Bank, Berne: 6 per cent.; Schweizerische Kredit-Anstalt, Zurich: 6 per cent. (1948: 6%); Aktiengesellschaft Leu & Co., Zurich: 5 per cent. (1948: 5%); Hypothekar Kasse des Kanton Fribourg; 5 per cent. 1948: 5%); Schweizerische Volksbank, Berne: 4½ per cent. (1948: 4½%). [A.T.S.]

From April 1st next, Switzerland will be recognised by Canada as a non-scheduled country, and from July 1st. Canada will lift the import prohibition on a number of Swiss goods. This will benefit, in particular, the Swiss textile industry.

Swiss imports from Canada last year amounted to Frs.154m., while exports were valued at only Frs.47m.

A previous arrangement provided for the increase of annual travel allowances from $150 to $2,500 per head.

Gold stocks of the Swiss National Bank during the first week of February dropped by Frs.9.7m. to Frs. 6,245m. A decline of Frs.3.2m. had been recorded for the previous week. Foreign exchange holdings on February 7th were Frs. 1.8m. lower at Frs.268m.

From the National Bank's report for the past year it can be seen that out of a total gold reserve of Frs. 6,240m. at end-December as much as Frs. 4,334m. was deposited abroad.

The effects of the National Bank's attitude in curtailing gold dealings in recent years are clearly reflected by the profit and loss account, which shows revenue from gold and foreign exchange dealings in 1949 at Frs.7.7m., against Frs.16.7m. in 1946. Gold sales to individuals are still suspended.

Notes in circulation at end-December, 1949, were covered by gold to the extent of 136 per cent. This is usually high, seeing that the gold cover prescribed by law is only 40 per cent.

From Switzerland comes the story of potted news on tap to telephone subscribers by simple dialling as we do for TIM. In Berne and Basle it is now possible to so receive a three-minute summary of news in either

German or French. Later Italian is to be added and the service extended to other areas. The bulletins are prepared by the Swiss Telegraph Agency and are independent of radio bulletins. They are kept up to date by six revisions between 6 a.m. and 9.30 p.m. This development was inevitable, some place, some time. It cuts out the waste of time waiting for regular bulletins. It won't hurt newspapers. It will help them. Anybody so news conscious as all that will want all the background information several good newspapers can give them.

The first gas-turbine locomotive to travel on British Railways, the 2,500 h.p., 90 m.p.h. model which arrived from Switzerland a week ago, left the Swindon sheds for its first main-line trial and reached a speed of 70 m.p.h. between Swindon and Badmington. Reports indicate that it behaved satisfactorily. The engine is going out on another trial.

Le "New-York Times" qualifie d'excessivement forte la situation économique de la Suisse après la guerre. Bien que pour elle aussi, le temps de la haute conjoncture soit passé, elle a pu compenser largement les suites de la dévaluation par une extension de ses rapports commerciaux. Notre pays semble avoir été créé pour servir au repos et au tourisme. Il respire la prospérité et le visiteur n'y rencontre pas de problèmes sociaux désagréables.

THE COMMITTEE.

DER "SWISS OBSERVER".

Von unserm Londoner O Korrespondenten.

Erschienen in "Basler Nachrichten".

Es gehört wohl nicht zum Alltäglichen, dass ein Zeitungsmann einem andern ein Kränzchen windet. Nichtsdestoweniger ist es vielleicht in der Heimat zu wenig bekannt, dass in London unter dem Titel "The Swiss Observer" alle vierzehn Tage ein Kolonieorgan herauskommt, das von einem Basler, Paul F. Boehringer, gegründet worden ist. Sein Sohn führt seit dem Ableben seines Vaters den Betrieb, der gleichzeitig eine Druckerie umfasst, weiter, während ein gemütlicher Berner, A. Stauffer, für die Redaktion des S.O. — so wird die Zeitung in der Kolonie genannt — verantwortlich zeichnet.

Der Zweck eines solchen Kolonieorgans ist ein mehrfacher. Einmal verbindet es seine Leser dadurch mit der Heimat und den dortigen Vorkommnissen, dass die ersten paar Seiten einem eigentlichen Nachrichtendienst aus der Schweiz gewidmet sind. Unter den Rubriken "Eidgenössisches", "Kantonales", "Wirtschaftliches" "Verkehr" "Armee" wird den in England ansässigen Schweizern — und andern, die den S.O. lesen mögen — alle vierzehn Tage eine Auslese der am meisten interessierenden Nachrichten aus der Schweiz geboten. Wer sich eine schweizerische Tageszeitung hält, wird diesen Nachrichtendienst rascher überfliegen, als derjenige, der aus irgendwelchen Gründen, vielleicht auch finanziellen, darauf verzichten muss. Bis vor etwa zwei oder drei Jahren war der Redaktor des Swiss Observer für die Zusammenstellung seines Nachrichtendienstes aus der Heimat auf zwei oder drei schweizerische Tageszeitungen angewiesen, die sich seiner erbarmten und ihm ein tägliches Gratis-exemplar zustellten. Seit einiger Zeit aber erhält er den ganzen schweizerischen Nachrichtendienst der Schweizerischen Depeschagentur zugestellt, was ihm selbstverständlich seine Arbeit wesentlich erleichtert.

Sodann verbindet der S.O. die Schweizer in London mit denjenigen in den Provinzen, endlich die Englandschweizer mit der Heimat — nicht nur die Heimat
