M. Arnold Bolle, advocate and notary has celebrated 50 years as a notary and lawyer in La. Chaux-de-Fonds. He sat at one time in the Grand Council of the canton of Neuchâtel and the National Council. [A.T.S.]

Two men entered the post-office of Cointrin (Geneva), and brandishing a revolver demanded the handing over of the contents of the safe (27,000. — francs). The post-master, a forty-eight year old man, courageously tackled the intruders with a lamp, whilst his wife ran out of the office to secure help.

On the arrival of the police, they were in turn threatened, wherefore they fired two shots. One of the bandits, a twenty year old man from Geneva was killed outright, whilst the other a twenty-one year old Valaisan was injured, and had to be taken to the cantonal hospital for an operation. A third man, who was waiting in a stolen car for the two thugs was arrested by the police. [A.T.S.]

Two young men made an unsuccessful attempt to steal a bundle of bank notes of the value of 60,000. — francs from a "Change" office of a Bank at the tramway stopping place Rive in Geneva. They were intercepted by two clerks, and took to flight in a waiting motor-car, which was reported as having been stolen. It has now been established that these men were identical with those who made an attempt at the post-office in Cointrin. [A.T.S.]

M. Henri Gagnebin, since 1938, President of the organisation committee for International Music Competitions, has retired from his post. He is succeeded by M. Samuel Baudovy, Director of the "Conservatoire" in Geneva. [A.T.S.]

ANNIVERSARIES.

Dr. h.c. Carl Koechlin (70) of Basle, President of the Board of J.R. Geigy, A.G. Basle. The "Jubilar" joined this world famous concern (makers of DDT) as an apprentice when he was eighteen. Before that he had attended a "classical school", as was customary for the sons of old and wealthy Basle families.

After serving his apprenticeship, he was sent to France, to Germany and then to England and, in 1912 to the United States. On his return to Switzerland, he rejoined the firm. Dr. Koechlin is to-day one of the most outstanding figures in Swiss industry, Finance and Politics. He is Chairman of the Swiss Federation of Industry and Commerce, the Swiss Chamber of Commerce (Vorort), and a member of the Board of the Swiss National Bank. From 1918 to 1938, he sat in the Grand Council of the canton of Basle-Town. The Universities of Basle and Lausanne have honoured him with the degree of doctor honoris causa.

Professor Otto Schlaginhaufen (80) of St. Gall, formerly Professor of anthropology at the University of Zurich, and President of the Society of anthropology and ethnology. [A.T.S.]

VARIOUS.

From November 1st 1959 the amount of currency allowed to U.K. residents is virtually unlimited. Banks and Travel Agents may supply foreign currency up to a maximum of £250 per person (including children) during any travel year for visits abroad. Further sums may be granted on application to the Bank of England. The amounts issued must be entered in the passport. V-forms will be abolished. This means that services such as: hotel accommodation, meals en route, couriers etc. may be provided against payment in Sterling. The respective costs need no longer be deducted from the amount of exchange authorised for travel, and passports need not be marked.
