A man, who has since been identified as the notorious British bank robber, Donald Brown, alias Donald Hume, entered the Rämistrasse branch office of the "Gewerbebank" Zurich. Jumping on the counter and brandishing a revolver, he demanded the handing over of the money from the cashier, who refused — whereupon he fired a shot at him wounding him in the stomach. He then attacked another employee by hitting him on the head with his revolver. An attempt to open a safe proved unsuccessful. Brown then hurriedly left the premises, hotly pursued by one of the Bank's employees and an apprentice.

Near the Oberdorf, a taxi driver, Arthur Maag (50) tried to stop the gangster but was shot at and killed. A cook (35) took over the pursuit and, tackling him, managed to wrench the revolver from his hand; then, with the assistance of some passers-by, he overwhelmed and detained Brown until the police arrived.

The cook who courageously stopped the murderer received a reward of 1,000.— francs from the police. The dependants of the taxi-driver who was killed will receive 50,000.— francs from an insurance taken out by the police. [A.T.S.]

A fire which broke out at the "Metallveredlungs Anstalt" at the Freilagerstrasse in Zurich-Albisrieden caused damage estimated at several hundred thousand francs. [A.T.S.]

The accounts for 1958 of the canton of Zurich close with a credit balance of 8,286,143.— francs. [A.T.S.]

The commune of Regensberg has nominated Paul Haupt, publisher in Berne, and Heinrich Hedinger, a teacher in Zurich, as honorary citizens. [A.T.S.]

During the year 1958, 400 traffic accidents were reported in the canton of Zug. 332 persons were injured, 10 of them fatally. [A.T.S.]

A coloured man entered a gunsmith's shop at the Rosiusplatz in Bienne apparently wishing to buy a revolver. After having chosen one he suddenly ran out of the shop and was pursued by the proprietor, who called on passers-by to stop the thief. On the Platz

A Hungarian, Sandowne Csonka (19), residing in Bregenz (Austria), travelled to Rorschach to induce his Austrian woman friend, who was employed at a restaurant in Rorschach, to return with him to Bregenz. The woman, although reluctant, agreed to accompany him to the railway station, where on the platform a violent altercation occurred.

To avoid publicity the couple adjourned to one of the waiting rooms, where the dispute continued. Efforts by the railway officials to end the row were unsuccessful and the police were called. On their attempting to arrest the Hungarian, he suddenly took a revolver from his pocket and fired point blank at the two policemen. DEATHS.

The following deaths are reported from Switzerland:

Professor Benedict-Pierre-Georges Hochreutiner, in Geneva, at the age of 87. The deceased was for many years conservator and director of the botanical gardens in Geneva, and Honorary Professor of Botany at the University of Geneva. In 1943 he received the "medaille de la reconnaissance" of the town of Geneva for his 47 years' work as a scientist. Professor Hochreutiner was the author of a great number of works on botany. In his younger days he worked for some time at Kew Gardens.

Edouard von Goumoens, in Thun, aged 85. He was at one time a member of the Instructors Corps (Artillery), Chief of Staff of the 3rd Division and Commander of the 3rd Artillery Brigade. On his retirement from the army he was appointed manager of the "Viscose A.G.", Emmenbrücke, and later on President of the Board.

M. Edmond Barde, at one time general secretary of the "Journal de Genève", and a member of the Board of the "Schweiz. Depeschen Agentur" Berne, in Geneva, at the age of 85. [A.T.S.]

ARMY.

The Federal Council announced that the commission appointed to advise on the type of fighter aircraft suited to Swiss geographical conditions has already examined various models in the United States, Sweden and Italy, and has attended trials of these machines in the countries concerned. All the types already examined will eventually have to be tested in Switzerland. The commission's report is not expected to be forwarded to the Government before the beginning of March, and the question of the purchase of 100 fighters of one type or another will not come before Parliament before the middle of June.

VARIOUS.

Sixteen countries will again show their latest products of the road vehicle industry, from 12th to 22nd March, at the Geneva International Motor Show, 1959. Passenger and commercial vehicles, road-building and maintenance equipment, camping equipment, motor boats, and accessories will be exhibited in more than 600 stands.

A "Jardin d'Amour", or "Garden of Love", will be one of the many attractions of the 1st Swiss Horticultural Exhibition, which is to last from 25th April to 11th October 1959. This garden, about which no details have been revealed up to now, has been labelled "a modern, but no less promising, copy of our ancestors' arbours". Other "mysterious" features will be a "Philosopher's Garden" and a "Poet's Garden". In the scope of the rotating special shows, a big International Orchid Show will be held in the first half of September.

* * *

How to preserve food by means of atomic radiation will be one of the most astonishing features of AIDA 59, Lausanne's International Food Exhibition which will take place from 13th to 28th June 1959. AIDA has nothing to do with Giuseppe Verdi in this particular case; it is simply the French abbreviation of "International Association of Food Distributors", whose 4th International Congress at Lausanne's Palais de Beaulieu will be attended by some 3,000 delegates from 30 countries. For the exhibition, more than 350 exhibitors are expected, about half of them from foreign countries.

Organisers of large outdoor events often experience anxious moments shortly before the actual date, on account of the weather. There is one event, however, which St. Peter seems to have unfailingly favoured in the past — the great lakeside Night Festival, with a giant fireworks display, at Lucerne. This summer, it will be held on 27th June (guaranteed to be a fine day).

The International Musical Festival Weeks, in which the Philharmonia Orchestra of England will once again participate, are planned for the period 15th August — 10th September 1959.

The first fully automatic aerial cableway in Switzerland was recently inaugurated at the lakeside town of Brusino-Arsizio, in Southern Switzerland. Tickets are issued by slot-machines, and the passengers themselves start the gondolas by pushing a button. By this new cableway the little-known village of Serpiano, affording one of the most impressive vistas of the area, has been made accessible.

The new slogan used in the current advertising campaign of the Swiss National Tourist Office — "All the Joys for Girls and Boys" — has produced a volume of enquiries exceeding all expectations. Switzerland is, of course, especially suited for a family holiday, as hotels usually grant reductions for children under 12. In addition, children under six years of age travel free and those aged 6—16 pay half-fare on Railways, Boats and Postal Motor Coaches.

Children love those fast electric Swiss trains, the many different types of Mountain Railways, the gaily painted boats, or the yellow Postal Motor Coaches negotiating those unforgettable hairpin bends in the Alps.
