BROWN BOVERI RELIABILITY serves British Rail

For over seventy years BROWN BOVERI has been one of the world's leading suppliers of electric traction equipment.

The proved reliability of the BROWN BOVERI 25kV Traction Circuit Breaker in service in Switzerland and other countries led British Rail in 1956 to adopt it as standard equipment for electric locomotives and multiple-units operating on the contact-wire system, such as the recently inaugurated high-speed service between London-Manchester and Liverpool.

During the past ten years BROWN BOVERI has supplied British Rail with nearly 700 breakers.
