IRON AND DIAMOND WEDDINGS

Mr. and Mrs. I. Tschumper-Hueberli celebrated their Iron Wedding (65 years) at the end of May. For many years they ran a farm near Sidwald. Now they live at Nesslau-Krummenau and are both 86.

A slightly younger couple, Mr. and Mrs. E. Naef-Roth celebrated their Diamond Wedding at Hemberg in the Toggenburg.

At the same time Mr. and Mrs. O. Luzi-Steiger also celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary at Flawil.

A former President of the Council of States, Mr. E. Loeffe-Benz, and his wife had their Diamond Wedding at Rorschach whose honorary citizenship the couple was awarded a few years ago.

“VELCRO” — A SWISS PRODUCT IN ORBIT

Through the press we have learnt that NASA has made use, in the Gemini VI and Gemini VII space cabins, of “Velcro” textile fasteners, which adhere strongly together when placed in contact but can be separated at will. This invention of the Swiss engineer Georges de Mestral, was put on the market in 1962 after many years of practical trials in Switzerland; it is at present manufactured in a number of countries and has been used very widely in the textile, furnishing and automobile bodywork industries. (See Advert.)
