SWISS CEMENT PRODUCTION IN 1967

Switzerland's eighteen cement factories produced some 4.1 million tons of cement in 1967. The output per worker, a figure in excess of 2,200 tons, is the highest for the whole European cement industry. This high output is a result of the rapid progress in mechanisation, rationalisation and automation, which has necessitated correspondingly high investments, averaging half a million Swiss francs and more per factory.
