SWISS CONTRIBUTION TO ELECTRICITY PRODUCTION IN BOLIVIA

In order to meet the continual increase in the consumption of electricity, the Bolivian government, in agreement with the World Bank, commissioned the Swiss engineering firm Motor-Columbus Co. Ltd. of Baden, to organise a National Electricity Office (Direccion Nacional de Electricidad) for the purpose of drawing up plans with a view to the development of electricity production. Next, the Bolivian Electricity Company "Empresa Nacional de Electricidad" commissioned the same Swiss firm to draw up the plans for a new hydro-electric power station "Santa Isabel", on the upper reaches of the Rio Paracti, near the town of Cochabamba, for an installed power of 36,000 kW with the possibility of subsequent development of 72,000 kW and due to go into operation in 1971. The Swiss firm was also asked to prepare a project for the building of a new thermal power station of approximately 15,000 kW to cover the gap expected in production during the years 1969-71.
