Swiss Rifle Association— DINNER AND DANCE AT THE PICCADILLY HOTEL

“Precious Memories – How they linger – How they ever turn my soul.” Such words could be rightfully put over the successful event of the Swiss Rifle Association, who, for the first time, tried to celebrate the end of the shooting season with a Dinner and Dance. Already on receiving the invitation one realised that the organisers knew well enough what they had let themselves in for.

A Grümpelschiessen with plenty to eat and to drink, with trophies and medals and at the end the ladies in cars outside to bring their husbands safely home, such a thing could well be expected from Swiss Marksmen and Crackshots.

But an elegant Dinner and Dance in the Piccadilly Hotel, with the Ladies and Friends in a friendly and cheerful atmosphere of gentle restraint, one had to be present to believe it possible. A Captain Bürgisser, as a host in impeccable Swiss Army uniform and a stiff upperlip could have been imagined, but meeting him and be welcomed by him and his charming wife, who showed such graceful taste and real classical beauty, was a delightful surprise and a pleasure for everyone present. The entire evening was dominated by an open friendliness and comradeship and when, during the dinner, the two Guests of Honour, Mr. D. Cantlay of the Surrey Rifle Association and Mr. B. S. Adams of the Kensington Rifle & Pistol Club, praised this quality of the Swiss Rifle Association as a great experience in their lives, everyone knew at once that they meant it and knew what they were talking about.

The President, Marcel Bucherer who, as usual, kept discreetly in the background was greeted with a joyful and sincere applause when he made his appearance by opening the Dinner. After a short prayer an excellent dinner, gracefully presented and served, was a joy for the eye as well as for the tongue. And there was happy dancing to the well performed and cheerful music of Peter Regen Ensemble. A splendid Tombola with precious prizes and many happy winners enlivened the evening. The highlight, of course, was the annual presentation of medals and trophies for the 1975 season including the Grümpelschiessen prizes.

The Challenge Cup went to M. Bucherer with B. Kett and P. Fischer hard behind him. P. Fischer then overtook him for the Senior Cup and B. Kett won the Ruedisser Schield. Again the Talbot Cup was taken by P. Fischer with L. Jobin and M. Bucherer in second place. The “Einzelwettschiessen” showed again the same crackshots in slightly different positions: M. Bucherer – P. Fischer – B. Kett. St. Gallen was won by J. Tresch and A. Löttscher, Zürich by B. Jaeggi and B. Gygax. The champion of the “Feldschiessen” was B. Kett followed by P. Fischer and J. Tresch, and “Grümpel” went to L. Jaeggi and W. Trauffer. In the compulsory Army Programme M. Bucherer was again the hero followed by P. Fischer and J. Tresch. Though most of the honours went to the same people, no sign of envy showed up in the faces of the many other marksmen – they were kept with discretion and discipline in the heart. Applause and joy showed the pride and happiness of a team for their winners and even those whose name did not appear on any list of honours were proud of belonging to this excellent company of Swiss Marksmen and Crackshots.

It really was a very successful evening and the President expressed in his thanks the feeling of everyone present: Congratulations and gratitude to all who have contributed to the success of the evening. To the ladies for their charm and grace, to the guests for their joyful participation, to the marksmen for the spirit of comradeship and competition and always ready to help on the shooting range and last but not least to the organisers, B. Kett and A. Löttscher, P. Regan Ensemble and the management and staff of the Piccadilly Hotel. In the midst at one of the tables was the oldest member, one of the founders, Adolf Schmid, who will celebrate his 90th birthday this year and the big smile on his happy face made it clear to everybody that this was one of his very happy days, and that he is looking forward to next year's Dinner and Dance. And so do all who were present!
