Kandersteg International

The International Scout Centre at Kandersteg (Switzerland) is a meeting place for young people from all over the world. As centre for activities it offers a large variety of Alpine and international programmes. These enable experienced and inexperienced boys and girls of 11 to 25 years old to get to know the mountain world and to make new contacts. A permanent and full-time staff looks after the welfare of the guests. For skiing courses and mountaineering courses, non-girl guides and non-scouts are welcome throughout the year. The months of July and August, as well as the Christmas and New Year period are reserved for groups of the girl guides and scouts movements only.

The Centre consists of three large accommodation houses: the Chalet (150 beds) with all important amenities, the Tower Centre (40 beds) and an Alpine hut at 1900m in the Oeschinen Valley, with roughly 20 places. During the summer months, a camping site (approximately 17.5 hectares) is available, again with amenities suitable to the needs created by the Alpine and international activities.

Detailed information may be had free of charge from the International Scout Centre, 3718 Kandersteg, Switzerland. Telephone 033 75 11 39. Telex 33972 scout ch, or telegraphic address Scout Kandersteg.

“WHY WE CANNOT AFFORD TO SAY THAT REVOLUTION COULD NEVER HAPPEN HERE”

This was the heading of an article by Lord Chalfont in The Times in August last year. He was referring to the “great and ominous change” which is taking place in this country. Great Britain has rightly prided itself as a Parliamentary Democracy, but much of the power of the people’s representatives in Parliament has eroded, and anti-democratic forces have begun to make themselves felt in most spheres, even without referring to terrorist attacks. Spreading alarm? Hardly — the man knows what he is talking about.

And so we cannot say any more that nothing will happen to us and therefore we shan’t need insurance. No, indeed, we have to think of the future, a future which may affect us adversely much sooner than seems possible. We may even lose our livelihood through nationalisation, political events, coercion and the like.

But can we insure against such things? No insurance company will cover that kind of risk — except one, the one we Swiss alone can join, the SOLIDARITY FUND.

And if nothing happens to us, we even get our premiums back which form legitimate savings in our home country. The interest may be smaller than in Britain, but it is not subject to the Swiss withholding tax of 35%. And the money is SAFE, guaranteed by the Confederation.

Inevitably the question crops up: How much will it cost?

You have many possibilities, and you make your own assessment as to possible risks. Of course, the present rate of sterling is against us, but we can join for as little as 25 francs a year. And that applies also if we are married to a foreign national.

So why not give it a try and apply for information? It is free of charge and without obligation. When applying, please give some details as to your family, also whether you are an employee or self-employed or retired. It helps to advise you. So get particulars from:

Accurate to within a quarter of a century.

This is the most complex watch Omega make.
 It measures the time of day with laboratory standards of accuracy.
 It times sporting events in hundredths of a second.
 It has so many split second functions* that it comes equipped with its own instruction manual.
 Fine. But—unfashionably perhaps—we still believe decades are more important than seconds.

 We'd like to think that 25 years from now you'll be looking at this same Omega watch, and recalling 1976—the year you first wore it.
 That's what we'd like to think.
 And we make all our watches accordingly.

Peasant Painting

«Senntum» Painting (herdsmen's art), a tradition still alive today, but unknown to many.

The so-called «Senntum» painting, predominantly panel pictures from the life of the Appenzell and Toggenburg herdsmen-farmers, appeared for the first time towards the middle of the 19th century, and they have managed to succeed right up to the present. The actual origin of «Senntum» painting can be found in the second half of the 18th century. At that time, romanticism began to set in, and the educated classes of the population began to find pleasure again in simple rustic life. This change of mood had its influence on popular art in the land of Appenzell and the Toggenburg. Many of the herdsmen who take off with their herds to the lower alpine pastures in early summer and to the higher pastures in summer, who return to the lower pastures again in late summer and go back home at the beginning of autumn, very often move to other stables in winter, together with their herds, so that these can eat the stored hay there, which had been bought earlier.

Procession to the Alpine pastures in Toggenburg

This wandering in winter from one feeding place to another took place already in the 18th century according to an unwritten ritual. The herdsman walked in front of the cattle, carrying the beautifully carved milking-pail on his shoulder, and the finest cow following him wore a large bell which made all the other animals walk behind her. Already at that time, the wealthy herdsmen had three harmonising bells carried by the three most beautiful cows, all three leading the procession. Out of this formation gradually grew the «Alpfahrt», the picturesque march up to the alpine pastures, in all its diversity, and which we find later again and again as main subject in «Senntum» painting.

The tradition of «Senntum» painting has been kept right up to the present, and nothing has changed, not even in the choice of subjects. The renewed success of this type of painting, especially also with young people, is to be found above all in its power of expression and painting technique. Similarly to primitive painting, the observer sees immediately what the artist meant to paint. The love and positively fanatic precision of detail enhance these pictures with a charming romantic radiation. The proverbial dot on the «i» is the «A» and «O» of «Senntum» painting.

It is, however, not only the «old» painters who have suddenly come into the centre of interest; on the contrary, it is the «new» representatives of this type of art who are still alive, amongst them also S. Kuratli from 9650 Nesslau in the Toggenburg.
